Wake up together for the first time ever, In a World that was brand new with no life before... The world was new. They were new. Each turned around and saw the other, first time they saw anything. They then saw the blue liquid sourrounding them. The thing they were now in. They decided to call it water, to make it easier to talk about it. But one of them did not understand. They realised how these 3 were able to hear what others said & one of them couldn't. But they couldn't leave their friend alone. So they deviced a clever trick. They used their 8 moving parts of their body, we call arms to show the word to the one that couldn't hear. They used their arms to act out the word. Then slowly, with time, as they found out they could use the green slimey <things> On the ground to make a mark on the hard surfaces of the rocks. They started to paint, draw, & write. So they continued on discovering new things about this World they found themselves in and new things about themselves & each other.	https://www.newscientist.com/article/dn17453-timeline-the-evolution-of-life/ https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/History_of_life

Aug 11	Thursday	Raksha Bnadhan, Full Moon	It is full moon today !Did you quickly look out the window ? Yes its beautiful. Studies suggest full moon makes kids go hyper. While there is still some arguement about this and nothing is proven, Moon has always remained a fascination for humans. How do you explain full moon to your kid? As the moon orbits the Earth we can see more and more of the bright side until finally the moon is on the opposite side of the Earth from the sun and we see a full moon. It usually appears very bright without any shadows.		#PhotoOfTheDay
